

More Career Awareness Activities for you and your Child.

There are many activities that you can do at home to help increase your child's awareness of careers. Help your child think about chores and how skills he or she has learned in school are needed to complete those chores. You can use such activities as:

- ~ Getting appliances repaired
- ~ Organizing family activities

Ask your child to create a time line for his or her school day.
For example:

6:15	Get out of bed
6:30	Eat breakfast
6:45	Get dressed, comb hair, brush teeth
7:00	Make bed and leave house
7:20	Arrive at school
7:40	Get organized for the day
8:00	Science class
9:00	Math class
10:00	English class
11:00	Gym class
12:00	Eat lunch
1:00	Spanish class
2:00	Theatre Arts class
3:00	Depart from school
3:30	Arrive home and eat snack
4:30	Begin homework
5:30	Eat dinner
6:30	Family time
7:30	Evening bath and prepare for the next school day
8:30	Bedtime

Then ask your child to think about how his or her workday may be similar or different.

A Teachable Moment...

Put names of different careers in a bowl. Each month, have your child draw the name of a career out of the bowl. During the month, have your child collect as much information as he or she can about the career. Reward your child at the end of the month for collecting the information and discuss the career with him or her.

Ask your child the following questions:

1. Would you like to work alone or in a group?
2. Would you rather work inside or outside?
3. Would you prefer working during the day or night?
4. Would you mind wearing a uniform?
5. Would you rather make or sell things?
6. Would you rather travel or stay close to home?

Have your child "interview" you about what you used to think about school and careers growing up. Here are some sample questions for your child to ask:

1. What were your favorite school subjects?
2. What did you like to do in your free time?
3. What career did you think about when you were young?
4. What obstacles were in the way of your career path?
5. What did your parents want you to do?
6. Who helped you make your career decision?
7. What did you learn in school that helped you the most?
8. What is your favorite thing about the work you do now?

SC Occupational Information System
1-800-264-9038
www.scois.net

This brochure was originally published by America's Career Resource Network (ACRN). It was revised in April 2007 by the S.C. Career Resource Network (SCOIS).

Career Awareness for the Elementary Student

Tips provided from The SC Occupational Information System (SCOIS)

Why is it Important to get an Early Start?

You are your child's teacher. Get involved in their education! Elementary school is not too early to start teaching your child about career awareness. Your child needs to know that school is connected to a successful career. While in elementary school, you can help your child:

- ~ Discover the variety of jobs that are available to him or her.
- ~ Make a connection between what he or she is learning in school to real-world situations.
- ~ Imagine himself or herself in an occupation.
- ~ Develop work-readiness skills such as working and playing with others, making decisions, solving problems and being a leader.

Children choose careers based on what their parents do for a living or what they see on television. If you help your child learn about a broad range of careers, he or she will have more information when it comes time to choose a career.

Explain the skills workers use in their jobs. This will help your child understand how his or her schoolwork will be used in a future career. For example:

- ~ A veterinarian uses math skills to calculate the amount of medicine a cat or dog will need.
- ~ A reporter needs writing skills to compose newspaper articles.
- ~ A marine biologist relies on his or her knowledge of science to study aquatic life.

Talking with your child about the link between school and careers will help them understand that school is important and that school success can open doors to his or her ideal career.

How do I start Talking to my Child about Careers?

One way to start talking to your elementary-aged child about careers is to talk about the things that interest your child. Then point out how these items of interest relate to activities that adults do.

For example:

- ~ If your child likes art, discuss how adults use art to design houses, clothing, magazine ads, movie sets and even toys. Explain that art is also used to draw cartoons, arrange flowers and take photos for magazines and books.
- ~ If your child likes to be outdoors, discuss how he or she can have a career that involves working outside, such as landscape architecture, forestry, archeology, construction work, marine biology and commercial fishing.
- ~ If your child is very social, discuss how people who like to talk and work with others may choose to work as a teacher, a lawyer, a customer service representative, a receptionist, a hotel manager or a convention planner.
- ~ If your child likes to help people, talk about different ways he or she can do that in a career, such as working as a nurse, doctor, athletic trainer, family counselor or child care worker.
- ~ If your child loves math, you may want to talk with him or her about the possibility of becoming an accountant, a computer programmer, an engineer or a statistician. You should also remind your child that almost all careers use basic math, so it is a very important skill to have.
- ~ If your child likes to keep others safe, talk to your child about a career as a police officer, a forensic scientist, a detective, an investigator, a parole officer, a security guard or a bailiff.

Other Career Skills for your Elementary-Aged Child

Elementary school is the time when your child should start learning about responsibility, cooperation, and problem solving. Here are some ways you can help your child learn these valuable skills for school and for work.

For example:

- ~ Help your child develop a positive attitude and feel good about his or her life.
- ~ Talk about what your child likes and dislikes. Explain that everyone has different likes and dislikes.
- ~ Teach your child to accept other children's ideas, even if they are different from your child's.
- ~ Have your child think about how his or her behavior might affect the feelings of other children.
- ~ Have your family work as a team to complete a home project.
- ~ When your child makes a mistake, work to correct this mistake and to prevent the same mistake from happening again.

- ~ Take your child to school on time and teach your child the importance of punctuality.
- ~ Involve your child in real-world examples of decision-making. Talk to your child about how his or her decisions impact other people.
- ~ Explain why work is important - not only for a source of income, but also as a way to contribute to society.
- ~ Resolve conflicts in a positive manner.
- ~ Talk to your child about how he or she is feeling, and teach your child to deal with his or her emotions in a healthy manner.

